Dedication

This Yearbook is respectfully dedicated to Mr. Peter Brown in appreciation of his faithful service as principal of our school from 1944 to 1958. Besides attending to his duties at school, as well as putting the Town of Winkler on the map through his flair for writing for local and Winnipeg newspapers, Mr. Brown found time to serve the community on numerous committees. As staff and students, we wish him many pleasant days at St. John's Collegiate Institute.

Message from the Inspector

Life is real; life is wonderful; life is earnest; it is to a very large extent WHAT YOU MAKE IT or WHAT YOU DON'T MAKE IT. It may be considered to be an intermingling of constants, variables, and components which are in some respects constant and in other respects constantly variable in varying degrees. Many of these great truths have been expressed in different ways by great men of the world throughout the ages.

Allow me to recommend for your consideration the following quotations from Bacon.

Studies serve for delight, for ornament, and for ability. Their chief use for delight is in privateness and retiring for ornament is in discourse; and for ability, is in the judgement and disposition of affairs."

"Reading maketh a full man, conference a ready man, and writing an exact man. Histories make men wise; poets, witty; mathematics, subtle; natural philosophy, deep; morals, grave; logic and rhetoric, able to contend."

It is a pleasure to have been given the opportunity to contribute in this small measure to your yearbook.

May God in His Greatness grant you the wisdom and courage to recognize and abide by those principles which are of greatest worth.

Success to All.

Sincerely,
John Chalaturnyk

Message from the Chairman

"Counsel is mine, and sound wisdom: I am understanding; I have strength." Proverbs 8:14.

Probably at no other time in life will you be faced with so many opportunities, so many possibilities of service as you will have at the end of your Grade XII term.

Recently a Federal labor survey stated there are 2,000 different types of jobs available to young people today. As you face this staggering number of possible choices, you will need much counsel, and sound wisdom to choose the right job for yourself.

The School Board congratulates you on your achievement and trusts that you may find the counsel and wisdom referred to by the writer of Proverbs.

Message from the Principal

Five years pass quickly. Five years ago I was privileged to come to this excellent school. During this short time I have seen many fine students pass through our classes. Though one is pleased to observe the exercise of superior talents, one is more delighted to see the consistent and faithful application of any degree of talent, be the talent great or small.

As principal, I have been called upon frequently to exercise judgement of character and of ability. Ability, or trained talent, indicates the kind of work one might be best suited for—but, such character traits as honesty, sincerity, persistence, application, humility, spirit of co-operation, and willingness to abide by the rules, indicate whether one is ready for any work at all.

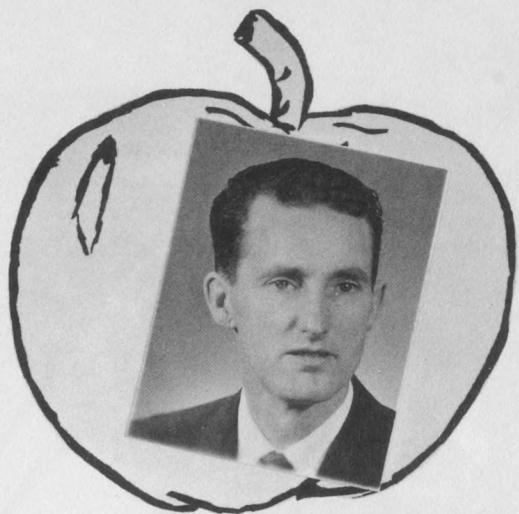

You are graduating from this school this year, or within one or more years. Look for a place of service and seek to serve—to serve God and fellow man. Let that be the first consideration. Continue to improve your abilities—you will never be finished doing that. There is no end of studying—at school or outside of the classroom—for those who desire to improve the quality of their service. To you, and to Winkler School, I wish God's continued blessing.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed . . ." (2 Tim. 2:15)

Valedictory Address

Mary Giesbrecht

Mr. Chairman, Members of the Faculty, Honourable Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen, Dear Parents, Fellow Graduates:

There are two types of tears—the tears of sorrow and regret, and the tears of happiness and expectation. The latter are the tears that we as graduates might well be shedding today. The first luring goal in our young lives was to graduate from high school, and now we have reached this first truly significant stepping stone—the first rung of our ladder of achievement. Even though “the Tide may bear us far” from this safe shore, yes, even though we may suffer “the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune,” we will retain an indelible impression of our stay in our Alma Mater and of this day in particular, our day of graduation. Thus far we have builded together, but from this day forward our ways will begin to part and only our Creator knows our final destination. When short years ago we peered ahead, we admired those in whose place we now stand. We then never guessed that so soon we too would be at the threshold of a new life in which great individual responsibility would be ours. This is a moment in which we may with great pleasure reminisce the past and look into the future far as human eye can see; see the Vision of the world and all the wonder that will be. It is a moment of awe, of thankfulness, and of determination.

An endless number of incidents and activities have knit us as graduates into an active, progressive group. Years of singing together in the school choir and projects such as the staging of “Juno and the Paycock” have made school interesting as well as busy. Naturally, one cannot forget the perplexed look of the teacher when, very strangely, several students had violent coughing spells due to sneezing powder; or, the sudden departure of a student who left the ridiculous but honest excuse of having broken his false teeth. Although industrious and efficient as we were, we never did regret the wasted minutes enjoyed while the teacher looked for his strangely vanished briefcase. Many memories of this nature will make it difficult for us to part from our halls of learning, and in the years to come we will often recall them.

An objective of education, which is being emphasized more and more, is the development of right attitudes, good habits, attractive personality and true character. If we have to any extent achieved these positive traits, we owe it largely to our parents, teachers and well-wishing friends. I’m sure that we will take these characteristics with us on our forthcoming journey and we pray that they may aid our success as well as further the welfare of those with whom we associate. Shakespeare defined this positive attribute of character so succinctly in his “Hamlet,” when Polonius says:

*“This above all: to thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.”*

Never will we be able to fully repay our parents for their role in our twelve years of education. Are they not the ones who helped us solve many of our problems, who financed our expedition, and who helped us hoist our sails when the wind seemed too strong? Often they had to help direct our course. Even if we may have had differences of opinion with them, we now thank them sincerely for the guidance and aid given to us; we know that whatever they did indicated that their hearts were beating warmly for our success and happiness. Today as we share our joy and happiness with them we are as proud of them as they may be of us.

We cannot possibly forget the most important component of our school which is the teaching staff. Were it not for these patient instructors, many joyous moments would not have materialized in our school life. After all, there must be someone at whom we could get peeved, someone to annoy! Always they were willing to help us where the going was rough and were it not for their tireless efforts, we would not stand before you today. Surely, we caused them numerous headaches and perhaps heartaches but someday their hearts may swell as they see us as worthy citizens, willing to accept positions of responsibility.

Thanks and appreciation also go to the school board and the people of our community through whose efforts we were permitted to use these modern facilities; who even provided us with a library and laboratory in times when the going was somewhat difficult. This added room has continually proved itself an asset to our school. We have faith in our communities and know that they will continue to improve facilities and provide better education for all who can benefit from it.

Ladies and gentlemen, it may well be that before you today stand future farmers, teachers, missionaries, doctors, nurses, engineers, or secretaries. However, before this can become a reality, it is imperative that each of us will strive for his chosen profession or occupation. Fortunately, nothing is too difficult for the fighter. Fellow graduates, may I encourage and urge you to look to the pinnacle of life and then strive for that! Purpose, followed by perseverance will ultimately lead to perfection. Let us say with Alfred, Lord Tennyson, we shall be “strong in will to strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield.”

In connection with this exhortation, I would, however, like to quote the words of the Master of all times, “What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and yet lose his own soul?” Let us not be blinded by the success and outward pomp of this world. Solomon, in Biblical times, asked God for wisdom and an upright heart rather than material wealth. I wish that as graduates, we would ask for the same, and could all honestly whisper and take with us the words:

*“We ask not golden streams of wealth,
along our path to flow;
We ask not undecaying health, nor length of years below;
We ask not honors, which an hour may bring and take away;
We ask not pleasure, pomp, and power,
lest we should go astray—
We ask for wisdom—Lord! impart that wisdom from above,
A wise and understanding heart, pure,
gentle, filled with love.”*

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council has its regular meetings every Wednesday noon. Among the smell of fish, celery, and bananas, you hear discussed such topics as socials, orchestra trips, dramas, I.S.C.F., yearbook pictures, and bills! bills! bills! Occasionally you may also hear someone laboriously munching carrots!

Each committee convener or chairman informs us of his meetings, his problems, his ideas, and his suggestions. With the help of our staff advisor, Mr. Bergen, these problems are discussed and voted on, so that a final decision may be reached.

The council undertakes projects that will be of interest, profit, or mere fun to the students! Our first such project was the annual school tour to Winnipeg, while later on, the school participated in the sale of magazine subscriptions. School jackets, sweaters, and rings made a great success this year. Likewise, other projects were operated by the council.

Yes, it is these students who are seldom rewarded or recognized for their tremendous efforts and time spent, that operate the school so smoothly. It is because these students work during odd hours, in a small classroom, and in a confidential state, that so few know about their contributions. Here's wishing the most of success to each member who has made this year so rich and enjoyable.

As a special feature of this yearbook, we have included a historical section in which many of you may find your names as former trustees or teachers of our school. We sincerely hope that this section may bring back many fond memories of by-gone school-days. If we have been successful in this aim, we shall feel fully rewarded for the time and effort we have spent in the preparation of the 1963 Collegian.

SPORTS COMMITTEE

The school year began with an interesting football schedule. While the boys battled for top place on the football field, the girls played volleyball. The boys had a record of three wins, two losses, and one tie game. The girls were defeated only once.

With the football season over, basketball games began. Determination and school spirit ran high and until the last games in the schedule, both teams remained undefeated. Then the Morris boys defeated our team. The girls were determined to keep up their record and lost only one game throughout the season.

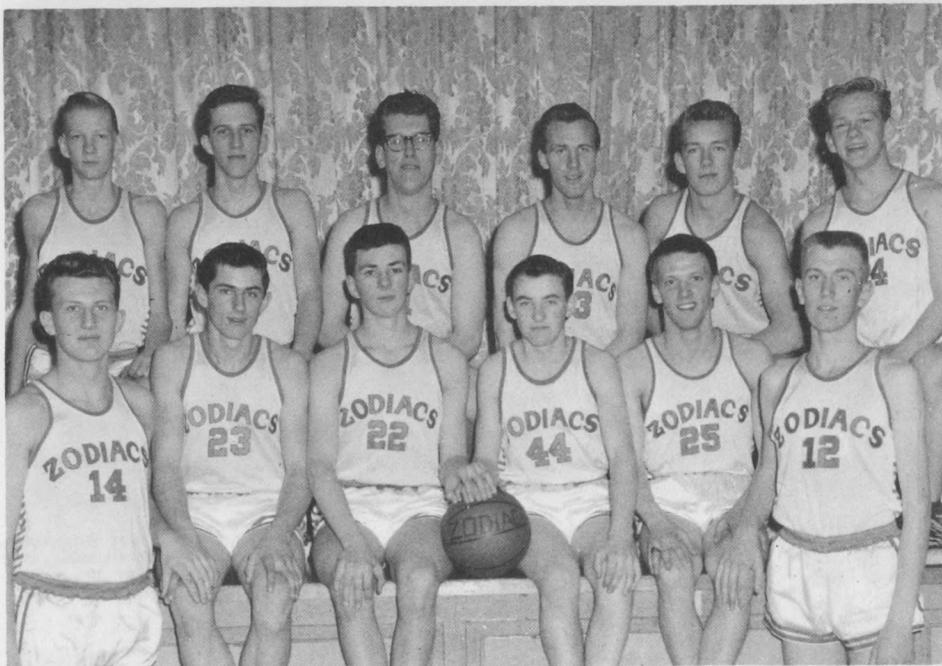

The boys captained by Herb Dick captured the Western Division Championship, while the girls came out not only as Western Division Champions but also as finalists for the consolation provincial championship.

Because of lack of interest, the high school had no regular curling schedule this year. This, however, did not prevent a few enthusiastic curlers to represent Winkler at high school bonspiels in other towns, as well as in Winnipeg.

Thus, it has been a very exciting and successful school-term in sports, and many of these exciting moments of the games will be remembered by all, in years to come.

I.S.C.F. REPORT

The Inter-School Christian Fellowship Club is an inter-denominational Christian student movement, organized by students, operated by students, and enjoyed by students. Its motto is, "To know Christ and to Make Him Known", and any high school student is always welcome to attend all club activities.

The Winkler I.S.C.F. meets every Tuesday night for about one hour. Club prayer meetings are held twice a week, Monday and Friday mornings at 8:30. The main features of the weekly meetings are Bible Studies, speakers, musical and missionary programs, films, and socials.

Each year the club also has special projects, such as a car-wash. The money that is raised is contributed to the support of Samuel & Lilly Escobar, missionaries presently working in Brazil. The club's objective this year is to raise $120.00 for the Escobars.

The past year was started with an informal tea and a large outdoor social entitled, "The Midway". Almost 75% of the high school enrollment was present, whereas our average attendance is approximately 55-60 students. Before Christmas, a special musical program entitled "The Life of Christ" was enjoyed. Also, as a token of appreciation to the Collegiate Staff for their co-operation with the club, the club presented a King James English Bible to the school to be used in the morning assemblies each day.

We thank God for our worthy sponsor and for the blessed year He has given us.

Mary Giesbrecht,
President.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Elections to the social committee were held by the student body in September.

The Hallowe'en party was the first organized school social sponsored by the committee. The programme with Clarence Kroeker and Bill Janzen as chairmen, consisted of musical selections, fun-filled games, and of course the initiation of the Grade X's and all new students. Lunch and dish washing set off by a few fire-crackers, ended the evening.

On December 13, the social committee sponsored the Christmas party. After the "Carol service" in the M.B. Church, the students came to the school gym to exchange gifts, cards, and indulge the good food.

Then later on during the year, the social committee planned an excellent skating party for the senior high students. The students enjoyed an exciting evening of broom-ball, snatch-the-bottle, pleasure skating, and of course, "Schlüsselbund".

The members of the other school organizations, as well as the social committee, have made numerous contributions to school life by adding to the extra-curricular activities of the students.

Irene Friesen

LITERARY AND DRAMA COMMITTEE

Our literary and drama committee has had a very successful year. As well as having planned a Literary program in fall, at which Bill Janzen showed slides of his trip to Europe in summer, two dramas were staged.

The Grade XII class, directed by Mr. D. Friesen, performed Sean O'Casey's Juno and the Paycock. The drama was a great success. One moment, the audience laughed heartily at Joxer's apt comments, the next, they were plunged into the depths of tragedy. Allen Schritt played Mr. Boyle; Don Penner, Joxer Daly; Lynette Brown, Juno; Marlene Schellenberg, Mary Boyle; Ed Lenzmann, Johnny Boyle; Jack Suderman, Jerry Devine, and Bill Janzen was Charlie Bentham.

The Grade XI's, directed by Mr. A. Janzen, staged a three-act comedy It's Great To Be Crazy or Skeletons In The Closet in which the audience laughed continuously at the antics of the Maxwell family, Mr. Maxwell was ably played by Richard Wall, Mrs. Maxwell, Ruth Hildebrand; Betty Lou, Rita Krah; Bernadine, Iris Dyck; Wilbur, Richard Ginter; Hercules; Ernie Penner Connie, Phyllis Hildebrand; Grover by Henry Zacharias, Aunt Mary by Gloria Wahl.

The dramas netted over $900 some of which will be used to pay for drop curtains for our stage.

Thus we see that in staging these dramas, we have gained not only materially, but also, we have been able to gain much experience.

Marlene Schellenberg

THE CHOIR

Many high school students each year participate in our collegiate choir. The choir has regular rehearsals every Wednesday during the last period. If it is necessary, the students also willingly practise at such times as noon-hours, Saturday mornings, and Sunday afternoons. Singing in the choir provides relaxation as well as relief from monotony of school life for the students.

The choir has been quite active throughout the year. During the first few months of the year the choir sang in the various local churches, as well as presenting an annual Carol Service. After Christmas the choir began to practise for the Musical Festival. Our choir sang both in the local and in the Winnipeg Festival. The choir members enjoyed singing tremendously, and have co-operated very well with the conductor, Mr. Henry Thiessen.

On behalf of the choir committee I thank the students for their co-operation and Mr. Thiessen for the wonderful leadership he has provided.

Allen Schritt.

ORCHESTRA COMMITTEE

We as the orchestra, have again been active this year. We accepted an invitation to the Orchestra Workshop in Brandon during January, played at the Southern Manitoba Musical Festival, and are now planning a special spring concert to be held in June.

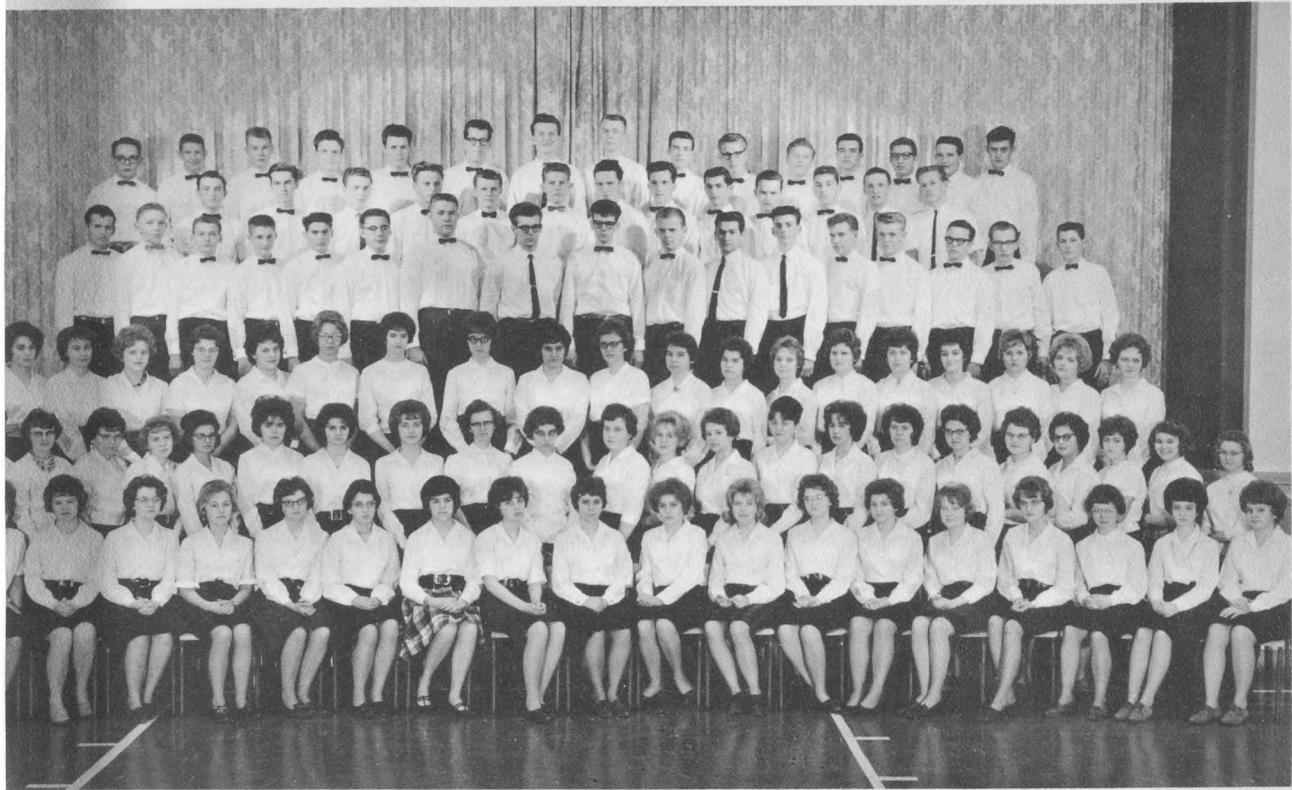

We are fortunate in having Mr. Albert Horch as our conductor. He has certainly shown us that he knows which end of the baton to hold. Mr. Horch plays flute in the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra, and has also been an instructor at the International Peace Garden Music Camp.

Even though we are having a tremendous season this year, the word "orchestra" in Winkler brings back fond memories of our former conductor, Mr. J. P. Redekopp. When he stamped his foot, that meant "play loudly"; when his baton knocked over a few near-by stands, that meant "stop in the middle of the bar, pick up the stands, and then continue". We will never forget the many valuable things he has done for our orchestra.

Our orchestra has given a large group of students an opportunity to display their musical talents. We wish it continued success in the future years in which it may continue to add to the cultural life of the community.

MISSION

Commemorating 70 Years of the Winkler School District

Seventy years ago, April 22, 1893, the Winkler Public School District was formed by a Board of Arbitrators. According to the half-yearly report for the fall term of 1893, there were 62 pupils enrolled and the first teacher was Mr. Cornelius B. Fast who had come here from Minnesota. He held an Interim Certificate.

However, for two winters previous to that, private school classes had been held. In 1891-92, Mr. Jacob Andres taught a private school in a shed on what is today West Street. The following winter, 1892-93, Mr. George Froese taught a private school in a house a half mile east of Winkler at the site where the nuisance grounds are now located.

The first public school building in Winkler was erected in 1893 on the lot at the southwest corner of Mountain Avenue and Sixth Street. It was a one-room school. However, by the fall of 1894, there were 106 pupils enrolled. Therefore, it had become necessary to engage a second teacher. A second classroom was consequently temporarily opened in a house to the north of the present Post Office on the east side of Sixth Street.

By 1912, with 150 children enrolled, and with a look to the future, the District was ready to construct a brick building on the present school grounds at the southwest corner of Mountain Avenue and Eighth Street. From 1949 to 1954, this structure was used exclusively for High School classes. It was demolished in the spring of 1954, with the erection of the Collegiate and auditorium.

A HISTORY OF WINKLER SCHOOL

By the spring of 1953, the school population had increased to 552. Therefore, more accommodation was urgently required to take care of five over-flow classes. Consequently, on June 29, 1953, the School Board called a special meeting of the ratepayers and electors of the Winkler School District to discuss plans for a new building. The By-law which was subsequently drawn up and passed by the electors, called for a $190,000 debenture issue for the construction of a new 14-room school and an auditorium. The official opening of this building was held in the new school auditorium on Thursday, November 4, 1954. The Hon. W. C. Miller, Minister of Education, was the guest speaker on this occasion.

THE SCHOOL POPULATION

However, the most important factors of a school are not its buildings but rather the lives and minds that are developed within the four walls of the classroom. On graduating from High School, by far the greatest number of local students choose the teaching profession as a stepping stone to other fields. The nursing profession also receives a large share of Winkler Collegiate Institute graduates. Others have chosen medicine, engineering, agriculture, home economics, dentistry, stenography, business, industry, farming, etc.

Before 1913, any pupil at Winkler who wished to complete his High School with Grade XI, had to go to Morden. One of the first students from Winkler to attend the Morden High School at the beginning of this century was Max Steinkopf. Max used to walk barefooted to Morden every morning in order to attend the classes there. Mr. Acheson, the station agent at Winkler at the time, says he would have been quite willing to loan him a pair of shoes but they would have been too small anyhow. After Max Steinkopf had finished High School, the family stinted in order that he could go to University. After graduation, he became a successful lawyer and owned a beautiful home on Wellington Crescent in Winnipeg. He died a millionaire.

Mr. W. Schram, who preceded Mr. Frank Derksen as the Massey-Harris agent in Winkler, had two daughters who attended school in town here. One of these girls, Hattie, married Mr. Allan, the C.P.R. agent at Killarney, Manitoba. Ralph Allan, the editor-in-chief of Maclean's magazine, was a son of this marriage.

Another former Winkler school boy who has become a prominent western newspaperman is Mr. Jimmy Greenblatt who is the owner and editor of the Swift Current Sun. His father, Mr. Isaac Greenblatt, operated a general store in Winkler.

On October 24, 1952, Mrs. Mary Klassen was elected to the Winkler School Board. This was the first time in the history of the Village of Winkler that a woman had been a candidate in a local civic election. Mrs. Klassen was born in Winkler and received her education here. She attended Normal School in Manitou and Winnipeg and taught school for 15 years in the Winkler, Plum Coulee, and Gretna area.

Another Winkler High School graduate, Mr. Reynold Siemens, son of Mr. G. G. Siemens, has won distinction as a cellist. He began his studies of the cello under Mr. Ben Horch as a member of the Winkler School Orchestra. Later he studied with Irwin Plumm and Mrs. J. M. Sinclair of Winnipeg and was a member of the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra. He then went to the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia on a scholarship. Here he studied under Leonard Rose for three years. Mr. Siemens is the only student ever to receive an A-plus rating from Leonard Rose, and has appeared with many outstanding orchestras, as well as in recitals at many U.S. Universities and Colleges.

THE TEACHERS AND PRINCIPALS

The first teacher of the Winkler School District was Mr. Cornelius Fast. In 1893, he received a salary of $550 and taught on an Interim Certificate. He had come here from Minnesota through the efforts of Rev. H. H. Ewert.

The only lady who has served as principal of Winkler School was Margaret V. Bennett. She taught here from 1904 to 1907. From 1907 to 1912 Mr. Joe S. Walkof acted as principal. Mr. A. M. Headlam, M.A., 1912-13, appears to have been the first principal of the Winkler School who held a University degree.

Mr. Frederick Philip Grove is possibly the only ex-principal of the Winkler School who has won national fame. Mr. Grove was the principal for two years, 1913 to 1915. After leaving the teaching profession, he became a noted Canadian author. Mr. Grove had the first grade XI class in the Winkler High School. He is remembered by his students as a "teller of tales." In 1952, the Programme of Studies for Manitoba listed "A Search for America" by F. P. Grove as one of the novels on the Grade X Literature course.

The principal with the longest tenure was Mr. John R. Walkof, B.A. He served the Winkler School District for a period of 24 years, 1916-1940. The year before Mr. Walkof came to Winkler, the enrolment had been 186 and the teaching staff numbered five. By 1940, the school population had risen to 331 and the staff to nine.

THE SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Excellent service to the community has been rendered by the local citizens who have served on the Winkler School Board. The trustees of the first School Board in 1893 were Isaac Dyck, Abram Kroeker, and Peter Peters. During the years since 1893, the following trustees, as well as many others, have given unstintingly of their time: Rev. Gerhard Wiebe (10 years); J. A. Kroeker (10 years); J. J. Enns (11 years); Rev. John Warkentin (12 years); Bernhard Loewen (12 years); Herb D. Dick (13 years); Mr. Henry Janzen (12 years); Mr. H. F. Wiebe (12 years); and Dr. C. W. Wiebe (24 years), who for 18 years out of the 24 years that he served on the School Board, has acted as chairman of the Board.
